

Gov. Romney Is Secretary Of HUD

It's Governor William Milliken Now In Michigan

Governor William Milliken

Idealism And Candor Themes Of New Chief

LANSING (AP) — Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken, who won his first public office only eight years ago, will succeed resigning Gov. George Romney as Michigan's chief executive.

The youthful looking Milliken, 46, presents a sharp contrast to Romney, who stepped down to become secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"I hope this (my) administration will be known for its compassion, its idealism, its candor, its toughness in pursuit of public ends," Milliken told the Associated Press today in an exclusive interview.

When Romney's resignation will take effect is undetermined, but it will probably be around the first of the year.

New Programs

Milliken, who has studied state government from both the executive office and legislative halls, is expected to try to implement new programs as the state's 42nd chief executive.

In looking ahead to the coming legislative session, Milliken said, "It's too soon for me to say in detail what I will be proposing. The State of the State message will begin to be the tip-off to the major objectives and goals which I would have for this administration."

However, he said problems to be dealt with include aid to education, air and water pollution, poverty, unemployment, job training and crises of the cities.

"I think we're going to be concerned with the whole area of public employee relations and public employes strikes—not only in schools but outside. Hospitals. Police and fire departments."

Tax Structure

"We're going to have to seek—and will seek—constructive legislation in this field," he stated.

"We're going to be deeply involved in those questions of the budget, the tax structure and how we structure our priorities."

He pledged a complete review each year of all government programs to cut unessential spending.

"We're going to be facing as never before having to improve in state government our management techniques, to employ the computer more effectively, to streamline our operations."

Fight On Crime

"The fight against organized crime and crime in general, I think, is going to be a major object, a major battle that we're going to win," he added.

Milliken revealed that he first learned that Romney had been offered a cabinet post about a week ago in a phone call from the governor. He said Romney told him of his decision to accept on Tuesday.

For the past four years, Milliken has lived under the shadow of Romney as lieutenant governor—a post that he did not find totally rewarding.

Romney Leaving Changed Michigan

LANSING (AP) — When George Wilken Romney resigns as Michigan's 41st chief executive to take his federal cabinet post, he will be leaving a state which has changed a lot since he first sat in the governor's chair in 1963.

Whether the changes were good or bad, and to what extent he was responsible for them—those are questions for political campaigners to answer. But change there has been, in both the government and the politics of the state.

One observation, though, seems safe enough: There'll never be another governor quite like him.

A nonsmoking, nondrinking, nonconsuming Mormon, he stood out in the political scene. An addict of exercise, at 61 he could leave younger men in his dust. A Republican, he ran successfully even during Democratic land-slides, becoming Michigan's first GOP governor in 14 years.

Democrats balk at calling him, in retrospect, a good governor. "I don't think he's done anything unusual at all," says state AFL-CIO president August Scholle, a long-time Romney critic.

Republicans, of course, don't agree. "You bet he's been a good governor," says outgoing House Speaker Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe. "I think he has hauled Michigan into the 20th Century."

Those who ran afoul of Romney said he was easily angered. The governor replied he didn't get angry, he got "intense." Senate Democrats once gleefully chipped in to buy a lapel-length jacket for a GOP colleague, claiming Romney had torn the lapels of another during one moment of intensity.

Under Romney's tenure, state spending climbed rapidly—a fact he never tried to conceal. He noted in a recent speech that the 1963-64 state budget was $601 million, that this year's is $1,338 million.

Inflation and higher costs account for part of the boost, he added, but the rest is attributable "to a growing population, to the increasing demands of local government for help, and to the determination to provide better services in the 1960s than we did in the 1950s."

He also said he had carefully pruned the budget requests of state agencies before preparing his budgets—trimming them by more than $1.5 billion during his six years in office.

U.S. Tries To Avoid New Rift

PARIS (AP) — U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance conferred for 90 minutes today with South Vietnam's delegation chief as the Americans sought to head off another rift with their allies. A spokesman for South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam said it was "a useful meeting." They discussed mainly the continuing deadlock over arrangements for the enlarged Vietnam peace conference, he said.

At issue are such symbolic matters as who is to speak first and what shape the conference table will be. American sources said there is still room for compromise and they remain hopeful the conference will get under way before too long.

The South Vietnamese delegation, masterminded by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, is pressing the Americans not to compromise on Communist demands for procedures implying recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The Americans tend to be less concerned than either the North or South Vietnamese over status symbols, stressing instead a need to start negotiations to end the war.

He could fairly be called a progressive governor, although liberal Democrats frequently criticized him for doing too little too slowly. Once Democratic lawmakers, asked to comment on his legislative program, complained he had stolen much of it from them.

Friends said his religious devotion and personal habits provided a welcome change from ordinary politicians. Detractors said he was sanctimonious and was made ruthless by the notion that his programs were divinely ordained and that opposition was, by definition, evil.

Most Difficult Decision "That big clown," snapped Scholle when told Romney had prayed and fasted before de-

Passengers Eat Steak In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Passengers aboard a hijacked jetliner ate steak in Cuba Wednesday while their calm hijacker and his woman companion waited for 6½ hours in a room at Havana airport.

Seven crew members and all but two of the 32 passengers aboard the inaugural flight of a Nashville-to-Miami Trans-World Airlines route returned to Miami Wednesday night aboard separate planes.

The hijack couple, both appearing in their 20s, were detained at the airport for 6½ hours before they were taken away by Cuban authorities. Newsmen in Cuba reported the man, who carried a trumpet, and the woman dozed on couches.

Usually hijackers are met at the plane by Cuban authorities and whisked away immediately.

Two passengers, country singer Tex Ritter and professional golfer Mason Rudolph, said the Cubans fed the stranded travelers grapefruit juice, beer, steaks and sandwiches during their nine-hour stay.

"You had the feeling they were milking it for what it was worth," Ritter said after returning to Miami. "At the end of the day you decided they were pretty nice people. I think that's what they had in mind."

Sulzberger Dies, N.Y. Times Head

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Hays Sulzberger, chairman of the board of the New York Times, is dead at age 77. During 26 years as publisher, he kept the Times abreast of a rapidly changing world while maintaining its traditions of completeness and responsibility.

Sulzberger died peacefully in his sleep at his Fifth Avenue apartment Wednesday. His health had been failing since 1957 when he suffered a stroke while in Rangoon on a round-the-world trip. Later he had another attack.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey paid tribute in a statement calling Sulzberger "one of our nation's most respected journalists" and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called him a "champion of truth and objectivity."

Girl Is Born To Ethel Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, gave birth today to her 11th child—an eight-pound, four-ounce girl.

The child was delivered at Georgetown University Hospital by Caesarean section at 8:40 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy has three other girls and seven boys ranging in age from 18 months to 17 years.

Her husband, the junior senator from New York, was assassinated in June in Los Angeles shortly after winning the California Democratic presidential primary.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., his wife and other family friends were at the hospital for the birth.

U.S. Destroyers Leave Black Sea

ISTANBUL (AP) — Two American destroyers left the Black Sea today after a three-day cruise that brought protests from Moscow and stirred up controversy in Turkey.

The United States said the brief visit to Russia's southern doorstep by the Dyess and the Turner, two 3,500-ton members of the U.S. 6th Fleet, was a routine operation. But it was generally assumed that the cruise was prompted by the Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean.

The destroyers sailed through the Bosphorus into the Black Sea Monday morning and came back out early this morning. Soviet ships and planes shadowed them during their cruise.

Civilian GI Bill Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education proposed today to President-elect Nixon and the Congress a civilian "GI Bill" to allow an additional one million students to attend college.

The recommendation, one of 22 in a 56-page report issued by the commission, called on the federal government to provide "educational opportunity grants" to qualified youths unable to afford the rising costs of college. At present 40 per cent of young Americans go to college.

"Today a young man or woman whose family's income is in the top half of the national income range has three times the chance to get a college education as one whose family is in the bottom half," said the commission chairman, Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California.

"This economic inequality is holding back the next generation and our country," Kerr said. "The first priority in our proposals is to end this form of inequality."

A second key proposal called for expansion of medical education in the next eight years to provide the capacity to train 75 per cent more doctors and to meet the rapidly growing demand for a variety of medical services under Medicare.

The 14-member commission said private sources, which today pay half the costs of higher education, should continue to provide the major share of support to preserve the autonomy and diversity of higher education.

The report estimates that its proposals would cost the federal government $1 billion by 1970 and $13 billion by 1976. Government spending in related areas at present amounts to $3.5 billion.

The aid to students would cost an estimated $1.91 billion by 1970 and $3.56 billion by 1976. The aid to medical education would cost $330 million by 1970 and $430 million by 1976.

California's Lt. Governor To Be HEW Sec'y

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon moved today to give his no-surprises, no-Democrats Cabinet unusual freedom in picking aides for top policy posts.

Spending the day meeting with the 12 men he designated Wednesday night for the department secretariats, Nixon told the group at the outset that he looks to them to seek out their own undersecretaries and assistant secretaries.

Nixon will have final say on choosing the men or women who will hold these top jobs since he must nominate them under his own signature.

"I can assure you these are strong men. They are compassionate men. They are good men," Nixon said in an easy-going, informal manner as he announced the makeup of his official family Wednesday night before a national television-radio audience.

Reaching into the ranks of Republican governors, high-powered businessmen and educators, Nixon came up with 12 men, many longtime associates and friends, who generally reflect the internationalist-minded and fiscally conservative attitudes of the president-elect.

No Democrats

In his drive for president against Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon had said he would seek men of both parties and of differing views for help in achieving his campaign goal of uniting the country.

Asked about the absence of a Democrat, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon communications director, quipped the President-elect had appointed "all independents who vote Republican."

However, press spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler made a point of telling newsmen that a Democrat will get one top job to be announced in the near future—ambassador to the United Nations.

The post has been offered to Sargent Shriver, now ambassador to France. Shriver is a brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., an association by marriage that has prompted some conservative Republicans to protest privately his appointment to the U. N. job.

No Negroes

Nixon also did not have a Negro on his list. Perhaps to try to offset any adverse comments, he began his broadcast by disclosing that Washington's Democratic Negro mayor, Walter E. Washington has agreed to appointment to a second term when his tenure expires Feb. 1.

By the time Nixon spoke without benefit of notes or cue cards, his choices for the Cabinet were hardly a secret. The President-elect had given the names in advance to GOP congressional leaders and from there the roster soon found its way onto the air and into print.

Cabinet Choices

They are: Secretary of state—William P. Rogers; secretary of defense—Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.; secretary of the Treasury—David M. Kennedy; attorney general—John N. Mitchell; postmaster general—Winton M. Blount; secretary of the interior—Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska; secretary of agriculture—Clifford M. Hardin; secretary of commerce—Maurice H. Stans; secretary of labor—George P. Shultz; secretary of health education and welfare—Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch of California; secretary of housing and urban development—Gov. George Romney of Michigan; secretary of transportation—Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts.

Nixon said no member of his Cabinet "agrees with me completely on everything that I believe about what ought to be done in this country." Terming them independent thinkers, he said, "I don't want a cabinet of 'yes' men."

Good Words For All

The president-elect wound up with good words for everyone—his Cabinet, his vice president-elect, Spiro T. Agnew, and even the members of President Johnson's Cabinet.

The appointments generally drew praise. The selection of Rogers as secretary of state was lauded by Senate Democratic leaders in-

Official Totals Give Nixon Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon received 499,704 more popular votes than Hubert H. Humphrey in the Nov. 5 presidential election, complete official totals showed Wednesday.

Nixon received 31,770,237 votes, Humphrey had 31,270,533 and third-party nominee George C. Wallace had 9,897,141. An assortment of other candidates received 239,910 votes.

Nixon got 43.40 per cent of the vote, Humphrey got 42.72 per cent and Wallace 13.53.

Heavy Fighting Spills Into DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese troops battled for 12 hours Wednesday, and the heavy fighting spilled over into the demilitarized zone, the U.S. command reported.

Twelve Marines and eight North Vietnamese were killed and 30 Marines were wounded, the command said.

Confirming earlier reports, the headquarters also announced that the number of American troops killed in action in the eight years of U.S. involvement in the war had passed the 30,000 mark. The weekly casualty report said 192 Americans died in combat last week, raising the total to 30,057 since Jan. 1, 1961.

In the same period, the U.S. Command said at least 422,979 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed, including 1,715 last week.

In the fighting along the northern frontier, U.S. fighter-bombers streaked over the southern edge of the demilitarized zone to attack about 200 North Vietnamese troops the U.S. Command said was raining mortars, machine-gun and small arms fire on the Marines. U.S. artillery guns also blasted at the Communist troops, some of whom were well entrenched in heavily fortified bunkers.

Military spokesmen said the fighting broke out on the southern edge of the DMZ. About 150 Marines from the 4th Regiment had moved out on patrol from the combat base called The Rockpile and ran into the North Vietnamese six miles to the northeast.

Another 150 Leathernecks were rushed up while bombers and artillery pounded the enemy positions. The fighting swirled into the zone itself when the enemy soldiers withdrew about midnight to the north and northeast and the Marines pursued them.

The North Vietnamese mortar positions were said to be a few hundred yards inside the southern half of the DMZ.

Bonanza In Green Bay?

Wisconsin Firm Asks Lease For Manganese

A Sturgeon Bay, Wis., firm has made inquiries and application to both Michigan and Wisconsin governments regarding a lease for extraction of manganese and "other minerals" discovered in Green Bay between Escanaba and Marinette-Menominee by a University of Wisconsin research team.

Neither state has granted a lease, pending further investigation into the value of the deposits and the possible pollution dangers to the lake of an underwater mining operation.

Kenneth Gravelle of Escanaba, geologist, who contacted Dept. of Natural Resources officials in the Lands Division at Lansing this morning after an inquiry from the Daily Press, said Michigan has not established any policy regarding the possible extraction of manganese from Green Bay.

Same Request

He said the Lands Division of Michigan apparently received the same inquiry and application for a lease that went to the Wisconsin Commission on Public Lands and Dept. of Natural Resources.

The applications were filed by Great Lakes Survey Corp. of Sturgeon Bay, a firm specializing in marine salvage and survey work.

Prof. Robert J. Moore, University of Wisconsin oceanographer who revealed the presence of manganese in Green Bay, made what he termed an ultra-conservative estimate in figuring the known deposits to be worth at least $15 million.

The manganese lies in relatively shallow water of 60 to 100 feet in an area from Marinette north to Escanaba as well as along the northern half of the Door County, Wis., peninsula. The beds vary in width from five to 10 miles, he said.

"We estimated the first foot of depth, on a very conservative basis, to be worth approximately $15 million," Moore said, adding that the deposits could range to 10 feet in depth.

Used in Steel

A grayish-white metallic element, manganese is an important constituent of many modern alloys, especially high grade steel. It also is used in making dry cell batteries. The deposits in Green Bay are in the form of small pellets.

The Great Lakes Survey Corp., which has been involved in marine salvage and survey work for about five years according to Blaine Dreutzer, general manager, asked for the right, without specifying terms of the lease desired, to extract manganese and "other minerals" from Green Bay.

The application was the first filed with either state for a mineral lease in the Bay.

Action on the application by the Wisconsin Commissioners of Public Lands was deferred to allow further investigation into their powers and duties in the matter.

Altrusa Hears CAA Director

Ray La Porte, director of the Menominee - Delta - Schoolcraft Community Action Agency spoke to the Altrusa Club at its Christmas meeting Monday night at the Dells Supper Club.

Speaking in the spirit of Christmas giving, La Porte explained the work of the agency and stressed the need for volunteers who will give of their substance, not their surplus.

The philosophy of the CAA is to assist individuals in escaping poverty. The Agency does not dole out funds, but works with the individual to educate and train him to become self-sufficient, he said.

Many agencies do have funds and programs operating under specific laws for specific groups. The CAA acts as a clearing house and catalytic agent, referring people to the proper agency and following through to make certain they obtain assistance if qualified, he added.

After La Porte's talk, Eva Fienstrom read the two versions of Longfellow's "Christmas Bells," the club members packed Santa's bag with gifts for patients at Pinecrest, and Claire Garrard led a carol sing.

The program was presented by Shirley Miller, chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting.

Salvage Holiday For Miners' Kids

CONSOL No. 9, W. Va. (AP) —For the grownups who live around the big coal mine the joy and hope of Christmas lie buried there this year with 78 men.

But Christmas is mostly for children, and many of the adults are determined to salvage something of the traditional holiday spirit for the young ones.

The 78 miners, trapped by explosions and fire in No. 9, were presumed dead when the pits were sealed on Nov. 30 after 10 days of futile rescue attempts. They left 75 widows and 133 sons and daughters.

Mrs. Bea Martin's miner husband was not among the entombed, but she expressed the general community gloom this way: "We're not going to celebrate Christmas. I don't see how anyone can."

Mrs. Hartzel Mayle, mother of 16 and widow of one of the lost miners, took a brave opposite view.

"Won't Throw Up Hands
"He would have wanted us to have a Christmas," Mrs. Mayle said. "That was our big day. My husband would play football in the house with the kids. We'll all try to have a Christmas."

"We have our farm and we're going to get by. I'm planning to buy some cows and we have the corn and hogs and chickens."

"I had a wonderful husband. I know he wouldn't like it if I threw up my hands and said I couldn't make it and quit. We're going to make it."

"I'm going to see the rest of the kids get through school. My husband and I always said even if they had beards and was gray-headed, they were going to finish high school."

Mrs. Mayle knew a coal miner's life well. Her husband had worked in the pits since his teens.

Some were new to it, like Barbara Toler who is still awaiting the birth of her baby. Her 26-year-old husband was among those lost.

For Little Ones
Mrs. Emma Opyoke's home is on the rising mountainside near the company store.

"They're going to have a Christmas..." Mrs. Opyoke said of the widows and fatherless children. "They're not going to have much but they're going to have something."

"They're going to force themselves to celebrate, especially when they have little ones who don't understand."

Inmate Escapes

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Officials of Southern Michigan Prison said an inmate escaped Wednesday when he was taken to University Hospital in Ann Arbor for a lung operation.

He was identified as Orvel Simmons, 32, of Flint, serving 20 to 40 years for armed robbery in Genesee County. Simmons was using an oxygen respirator, and when a guard left briefly, Simmons disappeared.

He had been scheduled to have a tumor removed from a lung today. Authorities said he had a previous record of escape.

Rules Financing Year-Around Schools Get OK

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has given tentative approval to rules that would help finance schools wanting to operate on a year-around basis.

The rules, which face a public hearing and possible revision before being submitted for final approval, call for a pupil count four times a year instead of the present single count on the fourth Friday of September.

State aid allotments to schools are made on the basis of the pupil count.

If schools wanted to operate on a quarterly basis, staggering pupil vacations through the school year, they would have only three-fourths of their total enrollment in class at any one time, a State Department of Education spokesman explained.

Under the present system, therefore, only three-fourths of the enrollment would be in school on the fourth Friday of September.

Quarterly counts would give a more accurate picture of the total enrollment, the spokesman said.

The Legislature authorized the state board to formulate such a plan.

Board member James F. O'Neill, an advocate of year-around school operation, termed the proposed move "one of the most significant steps that Michigan has taken in this space age society to unshackle itself from a horse and buggy school system."

The move, O'Neill said, will provide for more effective education for the children and citizens of Michigan.

He said year-around operations of schools will provide for not only more efficient use of educational resources, but also significant educational and social advantages.

He listed such advantages as earlier remedial assistance, reduction in dropouts, greater opportunity for vacation jobs and for jobs upon graduation from high school.

It also would help reduce teacher shortages and provide for more adequate pay for teachers, O'Neill said.

Find Body Of Missing Girl

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The body of 14-year-old Nancy Fleece, who disappeared 11 days ago, was reported by police to have been found today in an uninhabited area southeast of Battle Creek.

Details of the discovery were not released immediately by authorities.

The body was found one day after police began using tracking dogs in the search.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fleece, and relatives, had offered a $500 reward for information leading to her return.

Meanwhile, Russell Clayton Dodge, 24, of Ypsilanti, was held in the Washtenaw County Jail in Ann Arbor and charged with attempted extortion in connection with the girl's disappearance.

DEACONS OF THE First United Presbyterian Church of Escanaba were hosts and hostesses on Tuesday evening to 60 members of Indian families of Hannahville at a dinner at the church. There weren't as many Indians at this year's dinner as a year ago because more of the men are working, reflecting an improved economy at the settlement this year. The deacons — 10 women, two men — are concerned with the church's ministry to the community and the pre-holiday dinner for the Indians is one of their missions. (Daily Press Photo)

Ford Plugs For Hard Core Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II told his annual year-end news conference Wednesday the auto industry never had it so good. He then went to bat for one of his favorite projects, the plight of the hard core unemployed.

The board chairman of Ford Motor Co. predicted 1968 would wind up with a record breaking sale of 9.6 million cars in the U.S. during the calendar year and that 1969 would be only a bit behind that blistering pace.

The Ford chairman, who also is chairman of President Johnson's National Alliance of Businessmen, roamed over many topics during his free-wheeling news conference with more than 125 newsmen.

Drop Next Year

He discussed the sales records set by the U.S. auto dealers this year, due in large part to what he estimated would wind up as sales of about a million imported cars. He said this figure probably would move up a bit in 1969 but confirmed that Ford would market a subcompact car, the Maverick, next April to meet the overseas competition.

He predicted auto sales would drop a fraction to 9.4 million next year. Pressed for a reason for the drop, he said, "There are a lot of factors... the used car situation for example. Used car prices are down at the moment and there are a lot of used cars on the market."

Earlier he said of his 1969 figures, "You have to be a realist and what is wrong with settling for 9.4 million which still would be the second best year in the auto business."

Ford said twice during his prepared remarks that he did "not belong to the school of thought which holds that a strong dose of recession and unemployment is the only cure for inflation."

OK's McCracken

He called for a slowdown in the rate of inflation in the nation's economy but said it should not come "at the expense of those who can least afford it."

A strong supporter of President Johnson and of Vice President Hubert Humphrey's bid for the presidency, Ford said, "I think we can be confident that Mr. Nixon will be sensitive to the needs to maintain high employment as well as to the need to reduce inflation."

"In my opinion," Ford told told newsmen, "his selection of Professor Paul McCracken (of the University of Michigan) as his chief economic advisor is an excellent start towards sound solutions to the country's economic problems."

Work Of Alliance

Ford said the National Alliance for Businessmen, as originally directed by President Johnson, had set a goal of 100,000 jobs by next July 1, and 400,000 by July, 1971. The program involved private industry doing practically all the work in recruiting and training hard core unemployed.

"We have had 110,000 placements already and about 75,000 of them are still on the job," Ford said, adding, "Figuring we are adding men at the rate of 20,000 a month, that would mean 240,000 placements up to next July."

"Some people in Washington figure we will have a retention of about 160,000 of these jobs... that figure seems high to me, but I am confident we will be over the 100,000 mark with ease."

Teamsters Seek To Remove Name

DETROIT (AP) — The head of a Dearborn insurance agency said Wednesday that a Teamsters Union suit seeking to bar the use of the word "teamster" in promotion material was merely another form of intimidation.

Kenneth Barnard, executive administrator of the Barnard Agency, said he welcomes the suit filed in federal court Tuesday by Teamsters Union Local 299 of Detroit.

The union contended the agency is using the trademark "Teamsters" in literature promoting a new accident and health disability policy. Also named as defendants were the National Casualty Co. and K. D. Barnard.

The suit accused them of using the teamsters name to imply that the insurance offered was related to and sanctioned by the Teamsters Union.

Barnard said the word "teamster" appears in the dictionary as "one who drives a team or motortruck as an occupation" and therefore the term applies to the type of policy being offered.

Barnard said the suit "is another form of intimidation by Local 299 against anyone who supports free elections in the union or who is in sympathy with Mr. Andy Provazino, who is running for the presidency of the local."

Provazino is opposing a slate headed by supporters of imprisoned Teamsters President James Hoffa, serving a term for jury tampering.

Three Poisonous Pins Returned

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Three of the potentially dangerous jewelry pins sold by Sears, Roebuck and Co. in Grand Rapids have been returned to the Woodland Mall store, leaving 11 pins still unaccounted for.

The pins, described by Sears officials as decorated with "highly poisonous jequirity beans which may cause death if swallowed," were sold to some 300 people throughout the nation.

Norman Kohl, general manager of the Grand Rapids store, said the company plans to advertise in the local newspaper later this week, advising purchasers of the pin to return it to the store.

"It would be extremely difficult for us to trace the persons who bought the pins," he said. "If it were something like a diamond costing hundreds of dollars, we probably could trace the buyers through charge records, but these pins cost only $1 and we assume most customers paid cash," he added.

Wolverine Zoo Exhibit At Detroit World Best

By LEE SMITS

The Wolverine exhibit at the Detroit Zoo is rated as the best anywhere in the United States, perhaps the best in the world, which is fitting since the wolverine is featured on the official seal of the zoo in addition to providing the State of Michigan with a nickname.

The wolverine is king of the weasel tribe, and like many another forceful character, has a reputation for evil that is largely undeserved. Although a wolverine is not much larger than a cocker spaniel, it is prodigiously strong. The stoutest wooden shipping crate is quickly ripped apart by a wolverine. Airlines are reluctant to accept wolverines for shipment because the critters are likely to break out of any kind of a cage and take possession of a plane.

Keith F. Cline, curator of mammals at the Detroit Zoo, has this to say about the wolverine in the zoo magazine: "Once adjusted to captivity, wolverines are not particularly ferocious or dangerous. When the animal keepers enter the wolverine outdoor exhibit to clean and hose down the area, the wolverines simply growl and casually lope away to hide in a corner of the exhibit. Pound for pound, they can match any animal for strength and downright oneriness, but they lack the size to be a danger to man."

Although the wolverine is closely identified with Michigan, there is no evidence of wolverine ever having been native to this state. Michigan does have an impressive representation of the weasel family, including the badger — a formidable animal, totem of the state of Wisconsin — and a weasel no larger than a red squirrel, a fur-bearer that becomes ermine when in its winter coat. Also the mink, otter, skunk.

Some years ago the University of Michigan football squad was photographed with a wolverine mascot, tugging on a chain. The picture attracted wide attention until investigation revealed that the wolverine was a mounted specimen.

The name wolverine came to be applied to Michigan because the first wolverine pelts to reach cities on the eastern seaboard came from Great Lakes trading posts. Old ledgers in the Mackinac Island museum record quantities of wolverine obtained from Indian trappers, whose hunting grounds extended far to the west.

There is, however, one authentic account of a wolverine in Michigan, preserved for history by E. Ford Kellum of the Conservation Department, district game biologist at Gaylord. Ford Kellum, on duty in the Upper Peninsula, made the acquaintance of a very old Frenchman, George Primo. In October, 1871, when Primo was a small boy, he was living with a band of Indians on the Michigan side of the Menominee River.

On the tragic day that the city of Chicago burned and forest fire wiped out the Wisconsin town of Peshtigo, young Primo and the Indian women and children were watching animals swimming the river ahead of the fire while the men were trying to keep flames from jumping the river. A strange animal appeared and was immediately tackled by dogs, women and boys. The beast fought valiantly but was eventually killed.

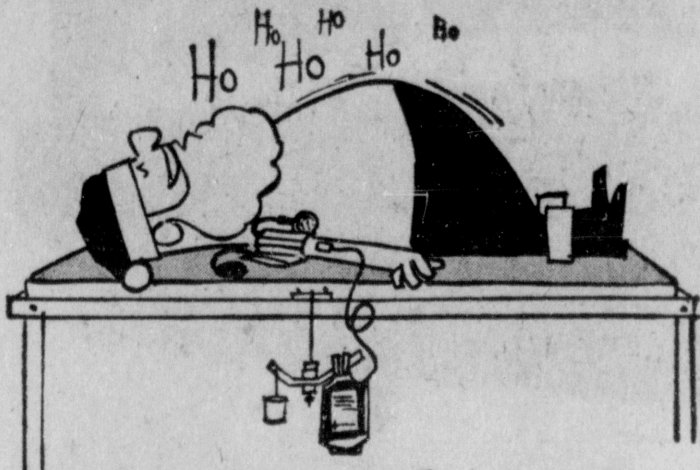

Many years later Primo sat in a barber chair in Marquette. The barber shop decor included a stuffed fur-bearer. Primo said he knew the Indian name for the specimen, and was told that it was a wolverine. Ford Kellum and Mrs. Kellum visited the old man in his backwoods cabin and Mrs. Kellum took down his story in shorthand. The wolverine is a climber, a ripper, a digger. The strongest cache that an Eskimo or Indian builds of logs and rocks for the storage of food will not withstand a determined wolverine raid. The wolverine is also unpopular with trappers because it will follow a trap line and devour any animal that it finds in a trap.

The wolverine is circumpolar in its range. Zoos have been largely dependent on Russia for specimens, although recently wolverines have been shipped from Denmark. Wolverine continue to roam the wilds of Alaska and now and then one shows up along the Canadian border, from Montana to the Pacific Coast.

Wolverine fur is valued for lining the rim of a parka hood since breath does not form ice on the fur. If any fur is superior for this purpose, it might be wolf tail.

Some Demands Outrage Reason

Blacks Overrepresented At Northern U. Already

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of Panax Newspapers

MARQUETTE — Organized racial protest, which has created monumental problems on campuses throughout the nation, came finally to Northern Michigan University Monday night. It came as a surprise, although perhaps it shouldn't have been surprising.

For the past several years, Northern has had a growing enrollment of black students. Its Job Corps Center for Women, the only one on a college campus anywhere, has enrolled a large proportion of black trainees. Almost inevitably, the students and the trainees were discriminated against in subtle, if not overt, manners. This, coupled with a national trend of protest, sometimes almost for the sake of protest, created a condition that could foster the sort of behavior that occurred Monday.

The protest came in the form of a strange demonstration in which perhaps 150 black students, men and women, seated themselves on the floor of the fieldhouse court to prevent a basketball game between NMU and Pan American College from being played. Black leaders said the demonstration was triggered by an assortment of grievances Negro students held against the university.

Game Canceled

The demonstration resulted in cancellation of the game between Northern and the team from Edinburg, Texas. This brought understandable disappointment to the estimated 4,000 persons in the stands, but they reacted with an admirable restraint that probably prevented a regrettable display from becoming a violent and ugly episode.

The display was regrettable because its motivation was confused and questionable and its execution deplorably misbegotten.

The motivation was never quite clear except insofar as it was part of the national unrest of blacks chaffing at the injustices they have suffered over the years. Various black students assumed the role of spokesmen for the group, indicating that the protest was not well organized or at least that leadership was not clearly defined.

These spokesmen gave varying reasons for the demonstration. Many of the demands put forth were impractical, unreasonable or downright impossible of fulfillment.

Already Overrepresented

For instance, one demand called for more black people in key campus positions. It was pointed out by Dr. John X. Jamrich, university president who reflected commendable control in dealing with a very difficult situation, that blacks already are well-represented in key campus positions. In fact, a case could be made that they are overrepresented. Blacks comprise only three per cent of the campus student population, but they make up 25 cent of the Student Senate.

Another demand insisted on more black faculty members. Northern has never shown any prejudice against Negro professors. A Negro, Dr. David Dickson, one of the university's first deans, later became a vice president of the university. Dr. Jamrich has said that the university has sought to hire as many black faculty members as it can, although it is difficult to reason why race should be a qualification for academic usefulness.

Rejected Fairness

It was the execution of the demonstration, however, that was totally incomprehensible. It followed a day in which university officials had met with black students in a sincere attempt to smooth over differences. Then, after the "sit-in" had begun, an offer was made by university officials to meet with the dissident group immediately following the game, but this was rejected. The group's spokesmen demanded an immediate redress of their alleged grievance, something that certainly was beyond the realm of logic or decency. To his great credit, Dr. Jamrich adamantly refused to make this concession, and the demonstration went forward to its bleak climax.

Throughout modern history, blacks have been the victims of unconscionable prejudice. They more than others have borne the brunt of man's inhumanity to man. Their drive for equality is not only understandable, but its success is imperative if the United States is to escape the terrible consequences of apartheid.

The question is not whether the drive for equality should be pursued but what form it shall take. In the present instance, much more can be accomplished through negotiations than through demonstrations of the kind witnessed this week. It is no more just for a minority to deprive a majority of its rights than it is for a majority to suppress a minority.

Wenos Lumber Plans Expansion

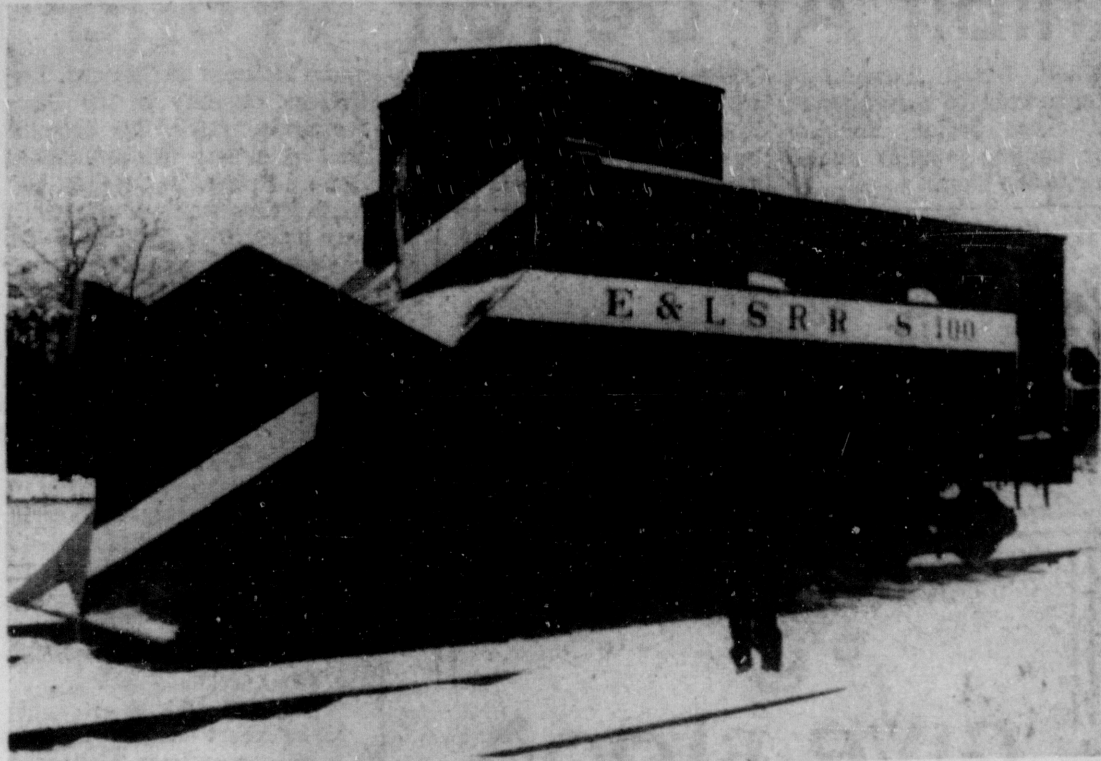

IRON RIVER — The Wenos Lumber Co. here plans expansion that will cost $515,000, and add 70 plant workers and 15 employees in the forests in the next four years.

The first phase of building calls for completion of a sawmill chip plant next year. A dimension plant and kilns would be finished in 1971 and a pallet plant in 1973.

Antone E. Wenos, a partner in the firm with his father, said that at least 20 acres and 700 feet of new railroad spur would be needed for the expansion. A site has not been chosen.

Long range plans call for possible construction of a furniture plant in 1975.

Only 1/10,000,000th of one microgram of attractant scent released by a female gypsy moth can lure scores of male moths from as far as a half-mile away.

SNOWPLOW S100, of the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad is leaving the Upper Peninsula after years of winter service between Wells and Channing this week to find a permanent home in the National Railroad Museum at Green Bay, Wis. Here is the plow as it appears now, repainted and ready for pickup for its last trip. General Manager Leroy Hamilton of the E&LS said the plow was purchased used from the Merchant Steel & Supply Co., of Chicago in 1950 for $1,250 by the E&LS and served until last year when it was replaced by a new all-steel plow made by E&LS mechanics under direction of Supt. Leroy Jacobsen. The new plow has air and hydraulic controls, while the old all-wood plow has manually operated controls. Even windshield wiper is hand operated. Obsolete as a hand-powered machine, the old plow also had another failing. It is too light and jumped the track too much when bucking snowdrifts at Hendricks, Tank, Mashek, Arnold, Northland and points west. (Daily Press Photo)

Don't forget

BLOOD IS ALWAYS NEEDED

Call Red Cross - GIVE

Wanted: 400 Blood Donors

The Delta County Chapter, American Red Cross is appealing for 400 prospective blood donors to meet a quota of 282 units of blood for the visit of the Bloodmobile to the county next week.

Why 400 donor appointments to meet a 282 quota?

Because for various reasons not all of the appointments will be kept—illness, conflict with other events, and the weather, to name a few. Also, there will be some prospective donors who will be rejected because they are unable to qualify for health reasons when they report to give blood. And some people just forget to come in.

Therefore the Red Cross says that to be assured of meeting the 282 unit quota for Delta County, there must be 400 appointments.

The Bloodmobile will be at the James T. Jones School at Gladstone on Tuesday, Dec. 17, from 3 to 7 p. m.

It will move to the Teamsters building in Escanaba with hours on Wednesday from 2:30 to 7:30 p. m. and on Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Blood will be collected on Thursday for an open heart surgery case—an eight-year-old girl. Needed are eight units of O+ blood and donors with that type are asked to report to the Bloodmobile on Thursday.

Board Member Hurt In Crash

A member of the Escanaba Area Board of Education escaped serious injury about 3 a. m. today when his car ran off M-35 at Ford River.

State Police reported a car driven by Daniel E. Wellman, 36, Rte. 1, Bark River, ran off the road, through a ditch and across a field before hitting two poles and the corner of a building at Lombardi's Bar, Ford River.

Officers said Wellman suffered cuts in the accident, but elected to seek his own treatment for his injuries.

He told troopers he thought he saw another car coming toward him and turned his vehicle to avoid an accident. Wellman was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

Wellman is serving his first term on the Area Board of Education. He was elected last June.

DETROIT (AP) — Reputed Detroit Mafia leader Vito Giacalone was handed another 90-day prison sentence Wednesday — but the new action won't add a day to his earlier sentence of four years and nine months to five years.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman handed down the concurrent sentence and described the law which sets the 90-day maximum as "asinine."

The new sentence is for failing to take a personal collection of pistols to police for a safety inspection. The earlier prison term—meted out last month—was for possession of a black-jack.

Kaufman said he had to consider the law asinine if it provides a five-year maximum for possession of a blackjack and a 90-day term for ownership of "six dangerous weapons."

The weapons—five pistols and a 19-inch, .30 caliber gun—were discovered by nine policemen who searched Giacalone's Grosse Pointe home last May.

In a related development, a gun dealer in Warren was indicted on 77 counts of failure to keep proper records of sales.

No Admittance Flu

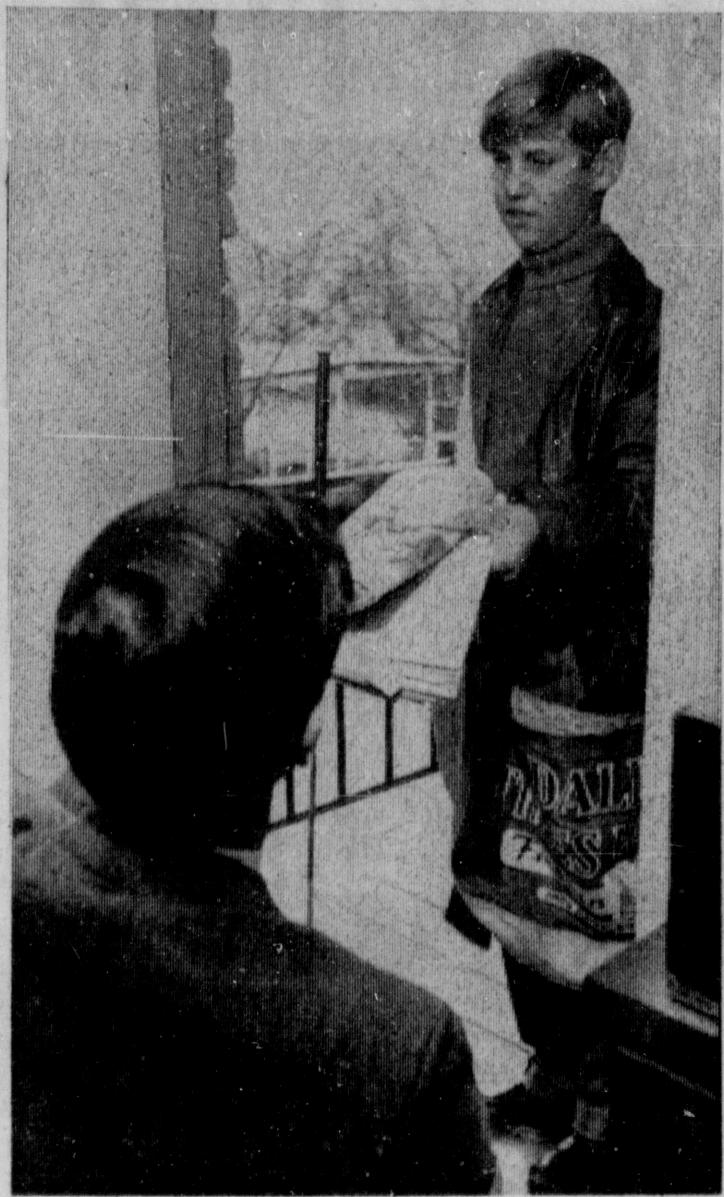

DETROIT (AP) — Hong Kong flu has been denied visiting rights to six Detroit hospitals. And so has most everyone else, at least for the duration of the epidemic.

The hospitals: Harper, Grace, Sinai, St. John and Alexander Blain took the action independently. It was feared visitors might pass the flu to workers and patients.

Hospital officials said that visitors will be allowed to see patients in especially serious condition.

Electric Chair For Michigan Man

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Michigan man was one of two men who were sentenced Wednesday to death in the electric chair in connection with the murder of a West Virginia man during Mardi Gras this year.

The death sentence was handed down by Judge Frank Shea of Criminal District Court to James "Bulldog" Cripps, 20, of Mount Pleasant, Mich., and Larry Joe "Rat" Purkey, 20, of Seymour, Ind.

They were convicted last month of murdering Taylor West McLaurin, 24, of Charleston, W. Va. His body was found floating in the City Park lagoon in March.

Judge Shea overruled a motion for a new trial. Defense attorneys said they would like an appeal with the Louisiana State Supreme Court within 15 days.

Truck Gifts To Mine Families

ROYAL OAK (AP) — A Royal Oak crane operator and his wife decided to try to bridge the distance to the grief-stricken families of Farmington, W. Va., this Christmas.

As a result, a truck loaded with gifts for the families of 78 coal miners who lost their lives in a recent mine disaster and 400 others out of work due to the shutdown of the mine is headed south.

Richard Turkette, 34, temporarily unemployed himself, says he thought of the project shortly after the November tragedy.

"I just figured someone ought to take something down to those people. It would be a pretty bleak Christmas if someone didn't," says Turkette.

"I just figured they could use a little help. Since I had some free time I thought I would help."

Turkette, a Boy Scout committeeman, and his wife Delores, a Cub Scout den mother, enlisted the Scouts' aid in a block-by-block solicitation.

Instead of exchanging Christmas gifts, elementary school children decided to send their toys to the miners' children.

Twenty dozen more toys were donated by a Troy toy manufacturer and a Royal Oak merchant. Anonymous donors contributed $170. Food stuffs and clothing were given to the Turkettes for the trip.

A truck rental agency loaned a truck to haul the presents and a gas station contributed 25 gallons of gas and a free gas certificate arranged through the national distributor.

Huge Mead Expansion Project Half Done

HERE THE VIEWER sees the start of assembly of a huge paper machine which will go on the line for production of paper at Mead Corp.'s Escanaba Paper Co. plant at Groos at the end of 1969. The mill building is enclosed now and work is progressing on the floors, beddings for the machine,

RUST ENGINEERING CO. is about half way to completion with the new paper mill for Escanaba Paper Co., a division of Mead Corp., at Groos on the Escanaba River. This view is looking west in the huge new addition to the mill, which is a quarter mile long and which will house a huge paper machine with an annual paper production capacity of 100,000 tons. The floor is under construction here with the concrete poured on the right side and the framing and steel reinforcing ready at the left for the pumping of concrete into the form. (Daily Press Photos by Bernard Schultz)

Mead Corp. is spending more money at the present time in Escanaba to expand its plant than it is to make paper at its big Escanaba Paper Co. mill on the Escanaba River at Groos.

The first phase of a three phase $100 million expansion project at the mill, which is costing $56.6 millions and being financed with industrial revenue bonds sponsored by Cornell Township, is now half finished. It is scheduled for completion at the end of 1969.

There are now 860 persons employed on construction of the mill addition, whose main building is 1,300 feet long. The construction crews embrace all the major craft skills and they are working a 40-hour week on one shift.

The main building to house the huge No. 3 paper machine for the mill is now enclosed and work on erection of the paper machine has started.

Simultaneously work is progressing on construction of the concrete floor of the huge building.

Employment on construction still is increasing and will reach 1,000 workers in a few months.

adding to run for governor. "He thinks he's got a private pipeline to God."

He spoke often of the decline of family life and called for a return to religion and morality. He urged citizen participation as the alternative to freedom-destroying centralization of power.

"Unless God-fearing men and women get into public life to do a job for the people," he once warned. "They will leave the field to the self-seekers, the demagogues, the power-hungry and the cheap connivers—and the people will suffer as a result."

On another occasion Romney said he "made one of the most difficult decisions of my life—the decision to run for governor—because he 'was concerned about the future of Michigan."

"I have never regretted that decision," he added.

Israelis Bomb Gun Positions

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Israeli jets bombed Jordanian gun emplacements in the area of the Sheikh Hussein bridge across the Jordan River for 10 minutes today, a Jordanian spokesman reported. He said there were no casualties.

Four planes made the attack, the spokesman said, after a 35-minute duel across the river between an Israeli tracked vehicle and Jordanian ground forces. The spokesman said one building was damaged and the Israeli vehicle was destroyed.

Israel troops opened fire first with rockets and mortars on an Israeli patrol and the Israelis returned the fire. A spokesman in Tel Aviv said there were no Israeli casualties.

Jordan on Tuesday reported a number of Israeli fighters flew over the Marfaq area in northwest Jordan but said anti-aircraft guns drove them off.

In Beirut, meanwhile, the Al Fatah organization of Arab commandos group issued a veiled threat of attacks during the Christmas season on Jerusalem and Bethlehem. It announced it would not be responsible for the safety of Christmas pilgrims to the holy places which Israel seized in 1967.

Al Fatah, the strongest and most effective of the Arab commando organizations, said it would "do all in its power to protect the peace and safety of the holy places" but would be in no position to guarantee the safety of tourists and visitors.

Stocks Gain In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market improved in heavy trading early today.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 140 issues on the New York Stock Exchange and the Dow Jones industrial average climbed nearly 2 points.

In a delayed opening, American Smelting spurred 6 points as the company confirmed that it had received an offer for its acquisition from Pan American Sulphur, which rose more than a point.

Sinclair Oil remained untraded due to a crush of orders while Atlantic Richfield gained about 3 1/2 on news it made a tender offer to buy up to 2.5 million shares of Sinclair common at $145 a share in cash.

IBM sank about 7 points, and Control Data lost more than a point. Control Data has brought an antitrust suit against IBM.

Upjohn Elected To Health Council

MIDLAND (AP)—The Michigan Health Council has elected Dr. Gifford Upjohn of Kalamazoo as the organization's president.

Upjohn is board chairman of the Upjohn Co., a drug firm. The council, at its annual meeting in Midland Wednesday, named a new president-elect. He is a University of Michigan dental professor, Dr. F. Darl Ostrander.

Other officers elected were Hugh Brenneman of East Lansing, secretary, and John McCabe of Detroit, treasurer.

Idealism And Candor Themes Of New Chief

experience and training as lieutenant governor—and it's been priceless in many ways—it also has been limiting and it has been frustrating.

Frustrating Office

"It has been limiting in the sense that you can't unilaterally move out and provide the leadership that you'd like to," he said.

However, he added, "the governor and I have had a very good and warm working relationship over these years. He has made every attempt to bring me close to his administration."

In a statement released Wednesday night, Romney said, "Bill Milliken will make an outstanding governor."

Milliken watched the Nixon telecast Wednesday night with seven former colleagues in the state Senate. The eight men had formed a pact in 1961 during a meeting in Traverse City.

Schweigert A Friend

The eight members, all moderate Republicans, pledged to help reform the Republican party and proposed legislation such as a minimum wage, tax reforms, construction safety standards, civil rights measures and reduction of tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.

All of their proposals have been enacted into law, said Senate president Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey. Schweigert is the only member of the original eight besides Milliken who holds elective office.

John Stahl of Belding, who is an industrialist and a dollar-a-year man in the lieutenant governor's office was also one of the eight senators. He is expected to hold a substantial post in Milliken's administration. Other former senators who were in the group included John Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge, a judge on the court of appeals; Stanley Thayer, chairman of the Liquor Control Commission; Ferrell Roberts, Oakland County Circuit Court judge; Fred Hilbert, a seed merchant from Wayland; and Harry Litowitz of Benton Harbor. Litowitz is retired.

Precedent Poor

Milliken will fill Romney's unexpired term which runs until 1970. Significantly, no Michigan lieutenant governor who has been appointed chief executive officer has ever served more than the unexpired term.

If Milliken decides to seek election to the governorship in 1970, two prominent Democrats mentioned as potential opponents are Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

Milliken has been active in politics all of his adult life. He never ran for a major office until 1960, he said, because of business problems. He is president of J.W. Milliken Inc., a department store in Traverse City with branches in Cadillac and Manistee. He was born and raised in Traverse City and was graduated from Yale University. He served as a waist gunner on a B24 airplane during World War II, and was awarded a Purple Heart for wounds suffered over Vienna, Austria.

Better Than Romney

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, predicts the legislature will get along better with Milliken than with Romney. "I think Milliken understands the legislature," Traxler said. "Romney never has."

Escaping Car Under Water

DEWITT (AP) — The nine-year-old car teetered at the apex of a 100-foot ramp, then sped toward the thin ice of Lake Geneva, two men apparently trapped inside.

It was just a demonstration of what to do in case you're trapped in a speeding car headed for the drink, sponsored by Michigan State Police.

The rules are: —Don't panic. Keep your doors closed. Your car will float at least four minutes.

—Wait until the car is settled, then roll down a window and crawl out, which is what Sgt. Larry Miller did.

—If the car noses down, smash the back window and climb onto the trunk, which is what Sgt. William Carter did. Miller and Carter were pulled to strong ice by four safety experts who spread-eagled themselves across the surface in a human chain.

There are no clues to her whereabouts. Her father, a chemical engineer at Lockheed in Redlands, and her mother, a psychiatric social worker, have posted a $500 reward for information that will solve the mystery of the girl's disappearance. Supreme Court, Imposter Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Walter Mitty of Washington courtrooms may be headed for his most glorious day—a chance to argue the law with the nine justices of the Supreme Court.

And there is nothing Daniel Jackson Oliver Wendell Holmes Morgan likes to do more than argue the law.

For years, in Chicago and then in the nation's capital, Morgan argued criminal cases in courts. Four of his clients were in the deepest of trouble: They were under death sentences.

And then, in 1961, it was discovered that lawyer Morgan was an imposter. Off he went to federal prison on a 3-to-10 year sentence for forgery, perjury, fraud and false pretenses.

Morgan was such a good prisoner at Leavenworth that he was released last May. But he didn't lose his taste for litigation.

While in the Kansas prison he sued the warden, John T. Willingham, and the chief medical officer, C. A. Jarvis, for $3,265,000.

Daniel Jackson

Morgan claimed they caused him to be inoculated with a "deleterious foreign substance, serum or drug" and battered, clubbed and choked him.

Since Leavenworth is a federal prison, the case normally would be handled by a federal court.

But Morgan's skill still sharp, he convinced the U.S. Circuit Court in Denver he had a right to try to bring the case into state court, presumably where he thought he'd have a better chance.

This sent U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold appealing to the Supreme Court, saying the law had been turned "topsy-turvy."

Though Morgan, in a highly professional reply, opined the Justice Department was "exaggerating," the Court on Monday decided to hear the case.

Thus, early next year, Griswold or a young Justice Department lawyer, smartly turned out in morning coat, will stand before the bench and put the government's case to the court.

Morgan, of course, is entitled to have a lawyer represent him. Though laymen are permitted to argue their own cases in the court, no one recalls this happening more than a handful of times.

Lake Fish High In Pesticides

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Twice as much pesticide can be found in Lake Michigan fish as in ocean specimens, a California scientist said Tuesday during a series of hearings on DDT pollution.

Robert Reishboro of the University of California's marine resources institute said only the lower Mississippi River appears to have an insecticide pollution threat to wildlife greater than that of the lake.

Joseph J. Hickey, a University of Wisconsin biologist, said Lake Michigan, "despite its size, is one of the most polluted DDE lakes in the world."

DDE is a derivative of DDT, a result of materials being altered in living creatures.

The hearings stem from requests by conservation groups that Wisconsin's Department of Natural Resources halt further use of DDT whenever it threatens to pollute waters. The request is aimed at agricultural use of pesticides and at municipal use of DDT to control Dutch Elm disease.

Other DDT foes at the hearings asked the U. S. Food and Drug Administration to ban DDT use altogether.

The department has said state law allows it to act only if it can be shown that use of a

GLADSTONE Children Invited To Film Program

Explosion Racks Midland Corp.

FERNDAL (AP)—One man was killed and seven persons injured in an explosion and fire Wednesday that destroyed a Ferndale adhesive plant. The blast at the Midland Adhesive and Chemical Corp. building in suburban Detroit knocked out windows in buildings 500 feet from the plant.

Workers uncovered the body of a worker, tentatively identified as Montrese Bradley, 27, of Detroit. A spokesman at William Beaumont Hospital in neighboring Royal Oak said seven persons were treated for minor lacerations and released.

Thirteen other workers in the factory were shaken when the explosion rocked the plant. Robert Lademan, sales vice president of the firm, indicated the blast occurred in an area of mixing tanks in the northeast corner of the building and most of the employees were on a lunch break in the southeast corner. The firm makes adhesive compounds.

Plant manager Robert Costeu said fumes from one of the chemical processes may have caused the explosion.

Loss to the factory contents alone totals more than $150,000, he said. There was no immediate estimate of the total damages.

The Buckeye area children will see the film program at 1:00 on Wednesday, December 18. Pre-schoolers, ages 3 to 5, in the Buckeye area may attend the showing at that time. All Saints School children will see the films Friday morning, Dec. 13, and Brampton Township children will have the program at 1:00 Friday afternoon.

Monday the film program will be seen by the Rapid River Elementary School and by the Flat Rock School children on Tuesday, December 17.

The films are available through the Public Library Film Service, and the showings are sponsored by the Gladstone Public Library Committee for the children of the Gladstone Library service area.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Santa says he can save Santa Land with the three-colored string but when he boosts Edgar into his plane Santa himself turns into a top.

CHAPTER 10 THE BATH

EDGAR and Ding Dong and all the hippies stared incredulously at the top spinning at their feet.

Edgar sat on the wing of the plane. "It's Heskiah's magic salt!" he moaned. "It turned everyone in Santa Land into tops and now it has done the same to Santa."

"But Heskiah is in Santa Land," protested the hippies. "How could the salt get to Hippieville?"

"I don't know, I don't know," sobbed Edgar and buried his face in his hands.

Suddenly Ding Dong pointed at Edgar's shoes. "Look at his feet!"

All the hippies looked. Edgar took his hands from his eyes and looked. There on the bottom of the elf's shoes was a trace of Heskiah's salt.

"I must have stepped in it up at Santa Land," gasped the elf.

"And when you put your shoe in Santa's hands the salt got on him!" groaned a hippie. "It's all my fault," wept the elf.

But Ding Dong said, "Never mind whose fault it is. We must burn the shoes quickly before we all turn into tops. After that we'll think of what to do."

Ever so carefully Edgar slipped off his shoes without touching the soles. The hippies built a bonfire and the red-haired hippie picked up the shoes with sticks and dropped them in the fire where they burned to ashes.

"Now," said Ding Dong. "We must break Heskiah's spell." "Santa said he could destroy Heskiah with the three-colored string. Why couldn't we do the same?"

"Groovy!" cried the hippies, cheering up. They turned to Edgar. "Where do we get the string?"

Edgar shook his head miserably. "I never before heard of such a string!"

"Some one must know! Think!"

Edgar thought and thought and finally said, "There's the Butterfly Queen. She was Santa's best friend. She might know about the string."

"Bring her to Hippieville! She will tell us what to do."

"If she left her kingdom she would die," said Edgar.

"Then take us to her!"

"Only one can go," said Edgar. "For only one human being every hundred years is allowed in Butterfly Kingdom."

Ding Dong said, "If I hadn't come to Hippieville none of this would have happened. I am the one who must go."

Edgar told them that the Butterfly Queen was the loveliest creature on earth, that she lived in beauty in the most beautiful of kingdoms. He looked unhappily at Ding Dong's dirty face and long hair and hanging shirt tail. It was clear what he was thinking.

Ding Dong looked at the hippies and the hippies looked at him and they all knew what they had to do.

They found an old rusty tub and filled it with water. They poured in seven bottles of the liquid they used for blowing bubbles. Then they dumped Ding Dong into the bubbles and scrubbed him and scoured him and rubbed him with sand.

They perfumed him with olive oil and cleaned his teeth with pine needles. They cut his hair with a pocket knife and combed it with a fork. Finally they dressed him in clean clothes they hadn't used since they came to Hippieville. When they were through there stood Ding Dong neat and shining as a boy on the way to his grandmother's house for dinner.

Edgar nodded approvingly and said, "He'll do."

Romney Briefs Members Of Crime Commission

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney told members of the newly formed State Crime Commission Wednesday that organized crime "has made startling, insidious inroads into the lives of each and every one of us."

Romney addressed the new Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice as members held their first organizational meeting after being appointed by the governor Nov. 27. Romney is chairman.

The governor said he placed "urgency" on the work of the Commission because of the "severe and growing problem we are experiencing in this state in the area of crime and law enforcement."

He cited statistics showing a rising number of felonies and juvenile crimes and added that recent investigations show organized crime to be a "really serious" problem in Michigan.

"We know, for instance, that organized crime derives many millions of dollars in annual net profit from illegal wagering in Michigan alone," Romney said, "and we know that organized crime has grown into a multi-billion-dollar industry across the country.

"For these reasons and many others," he said, "the work of this commission will have major meaning for the future of this state."

The commission, funded on a matching federal-state basis under Safe Streets Act, is charged with preparing a comprehensive law enforcement plan for Michigan in six months.

On The Sidelines

With Mike Utt

Today's "On The Sidelines" will be used for a column written by Ray Crandall, former Press Sports Editor who occupied this space with his column "In This Corner." Ray is now the editor of the Iron Mountain News, another of the Panax owned newspapers in the Upper Peninsula.

Pro football fans died a little here as the Green Bay Packers championship string came to an end after three glorious seasons. The Pack — beset by injuries, old age and the strain of a three-year grip on the top rung of the ladder — were shouldered out of a shot at a fourth straight NFL crown when they bowed to Baltimore, 16-3, last Saturday.

The setback left Green Bay with a record of five victories, seven setbacks and one tie in the Central Division. Minnesota and Chicago are deadlocked for the division lead entering their regular season finales Sunday. The Bears host Green Bay and the Vikings travel to Philadelphia in the showdown games.

The inescapable infirmities of old age, athletically speaking, caught up with the Packers this year.

The tipoff came after the disappointing performance against the Colts with talk of retirement of seven veteran Packer stars.

Among the Green Bay athletes who are seriously thinking of hanging up their spikes are defensive back Willie Wood, tackle Bob Skoronski, linebacker Ray Nitschke, guard Jerry Kramer, tackle Henry Jordan, tackle Forrest Gregg and reserve quarterback Zeke Bratkowski.

All are 31 years old or older, ranging up to Bratkowski's 36. Five other players who have carried a big load for the Pack in their championship reign are in their 30s. In that list are quarterback Bart Starr, defensive back Bob Jeter, end Boyd Dowler, defensive end Willie Davis and end Carroll Dale.

That adds up to about a dozen Packers who have reached the age of retirement or are rapidly approaching it. The advanced age of such a large number of key players was a major factor in the team's skid from gridiron greatness to an also-ran role this season.

In addition to costing some Packers that vital half a step in speed, advanced age made the ex-champs more susceptible to injury. Knocked out of action at one stage or another this year were Starr, Kramer, Jordan, Jeter, Ron Kostelnik, Jim Weatherwax, Bob Brown and Lionel Aldrich. Lesser injuries plagued other key Title Town performers.

There are other factors involved in Green Bay's downfall, of course.

The change in head coaches created problems for Phil Bengtson that Vince Lombardi never faced. After an era of unprecedented greatness under Lombardi, there was really only one direction the Packers could go.

In addition, it's a tradition of sports that you can't stay on top forever. What happened to the Packers this year has happened to every champion in the past.

Pro football is no different than baseball, boxing, hockey or any other sport — team or individual. All the challengers save their best shots for the champ, play over their heads against them and take advantage of any chinks in their armor.

Other NFL teams had three years to devise ways of stopping the once-awesome Packer offense and penetrating the formerly formidable defense. Rival coaches and players probed and poked at every Packer weakness, and it eventually paid off this fall. Starr's arm and rib injuries probably hurt the Packers more than any other single factor. Although Bratkowski may be the best back-up signal caller in the business, he was unable to maintain Green Bay's championship level when Starr was either partially or completely sidelined.

It's tough for Packer fans to swallow defeat, but they still can point with pride to three straight world championships preceding this season — and 87 victories against 31 defeats and 5 ties since 1960.

Packer backers can now come back down to earth with the rest of the sports fans and "wait 'til next year."

Murphy Stakes Scoring Claim

By The Associated Press

This promises to be a glorious college basketball season for Calvin Murphy, the 5-foot-10 Skidoo Kid for the Niagara Purple Eagles.

The junior sharpshooter from Norwalk, Conn., who scored 68 points against Syracuse last Saturday, threw in 44 against Cornell Wednesday night and strengthened his claim to the No. 1 spot in the national individual scoring race for the young season.

Murphy threw in 20 field goals and four of four free throws in helping Niagara come from behind to beat the Big Red 89-63 at Niagara Falls, N.Y. He probably would have crossed the 50-point mark except that he was taken out by Coach Frank Layden with four minutes left to play.

"Calvin played a very unselfish game and still managed to get 44 points," Layden said. "He had seven assists and fed the subs regularly. He played a magnificent game."

Murphy's magnificent play overshadowed Notre Dame's 57-56 squeaker over Wisconsin. Dayton's 83-55 conquest of Miami, Ohio, for the Flyers' 19th straight, Virginia's 81-75 upset of Duke and Richmond's 80-79 surprise of West Virginia.

Austin Carr and Tom Sinnott pulled the game out of the fire for Notre Dame at South Bend. The Irish, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, trailed Wisconsin 56-54 with 38 seconds left. Then Carr, a soph, tied the score.

Sinnott followed with a free throw with 10 seconds on the clock to win the game. Carr led the Irish with 22 points. Chuck Nagle's 15 topped Wisconsin.

Dayton shot a blistering 61 per cent as the Flyers made it five in a row this season against Miami at Oxford, Ohio. Ninth-ranked Duke fell to Virginia for the first time in 10 years as Tony Kinn's 29 points paced the Cavaliers in the ACC game at Charlottesville.

Mike Truelli's free throw in the last second broke a 79-79 tie and gave Richmond its upset over West Virginia at Morgantown. It was the first time since 1954 that Richmond has beaten West Virginia on the Mountain.

neers' home court.

Spencer Haywood's 35 points led 14th-ranked Detroit to a 74-72 road triumph over Eastern Michigan. LaSalle, No. 20 and the only other team in the AP Top 20 to see action, walloped Miami of Florida 96-71 at the Palestra in Philadelphia. Bernie Williams led the Explorers with 32 points.

Yale beat Brown 63-59 in the Ivy League opener. In other eastern games Fordham downed Syracuse 77-62, Seton Hall whipped St. Francis, N.Y., 66-53, and Fairfield took King's, Pa., 70-65.

Princeton scored its first victory of the season by whipping Maryland 72-63 at College Park.

Pistons Dumped Again; Lose Seventh Straight

By The Associated Press

Paul Seymour has had nothing but bad news since taking over as coach of the Detroit Pistons, so what else could be expected from Jim "Bad New" Barnes?

Barnes, who has been nothing but good news to the Boston Celtics since joining them last week, scored a three-point play with 70 seconds left Wednesday night and lifted the Celtics to a 108-106 victory over the Pistons.

The loss for the seventh straight for Detroit and its fifth in a row since Seymour took over for fired Donis Butcher.

The victory was the sixth in seven starts for Boston, but still left them a game behind Baltimore in the National Basketball League's Eastern Division after the Bulls rode over the New York Knicks 118-110.

In other games, Philadelphia hammered Phoenix 143-123, Cincinnati topped San Diego 116-110 and Milwaukee halted San Francisco 106-96.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky beat Houston 106-99, Indiana defeated Miami 117-100 and Los Angeles turned back Minnesota 124-116. Barnes, acquired from Chicago, scored 20 points last week to help the Celtics beat Cincinnati. He had only 10 against the Pis-

International Rules In Effect For Tonight's Cage Exhibition

Basketball fans attending the game between the Bay de Noc Community College Norsemen and the Czechoslovakian Slavia Prague team tonight will find a big difference in the rules in which they are accustomed to while watching the local high school teams perform.

Immediately upon walking into the Holy Name High School gymnasium tonight, fans will notice the strips of tape placed on the floor around the free throw lane or second area. The tape is present to show the difference in the wider three second area used under International rules. The three second area in tonight's game will be approximately 19 feet 8 1/4 inches.

If the teams appear to take a long time in getting the ball across the mid-court line don't start hollering at the referees. Under International rules the ten second back court violation is eliminated.

In tonight's game, if a player is fouled in the act of shooting he will be permitted two free throws, provided the shot is missed. If he should make the shot, no free throws are allowed and the ball is put in play from the end line. If a personal foul is committed on a player not in the act of shooting, the foul is charged and the ball is put in play by the offended team.

Redskin Juniors Notch Victories

HERMANVILLE—The Hermansville seventh and eighth grade basketball teams were victorious yesterday in a pair of junior high school games played against the Carney Junior High cagers.

The Hermansville seventh graders won the first game, 38-15, and the eighth graders notched a 58-46 victory in the second game.

tons, but three of them put the Celtics ahead to stay after Detroit took a 104-103 lead.

Larry Siegfried led Boston with 27 points and Jimmy Walker had 28 for Detroit.

Baltimore won its fourth straight and ninth in 11 outings as Wes Unseld with 22 points and 13 rebounds, Gus Johnson with 22 points and Earl Monroe with 18 played the major roles.

Billy Cunningham scored 16 of his 25 points in the first quarter to get Philadelphia off and running to an easy victory, but the 76ers lost center Luke Jackson to an apparent ruptured achilles tendon. The victory was the 15th in 18 games for the 76ers while the Suns lost for the 16th time in 17 tries.

Connie Dierking, hitting 10 of his 18 points in the final quarter, dropped in two field goals to put Cincinnati ahead to stay 94-91 with eight minutes left. Oscar Robertson had 34 points for the Royals and Elvin Hayes 35 for the Rockets.

Milwaukee broke open its game in the fourth quarter with a 15-4 spree led by Flynn Robinson, who scored 24 points. San Francisco, playing without injured Nate Thurmond, was paced by Rudy LaRusso with 21.

Area Cagers Play Key Games Friday

Area high school basketball fans may have to wait a long time before they will be able to find anything to match the excitement and thrills packed into Tuesday night's big game between the Gladstone Braves and the Holy Name Crusaders, won by the Braves, 67-65, in a triple overtime; but this weekend could prove to be just as exciting as the teams are beginning to head into the stretch before the Christmas vacation lull.

Both the Crusaders and the Braves swing back into action on Friday night against powerful opponents. Holy Name plays host to the Munising Mustangs at 8 p.m. in the Holy Name High School gymnasium while the Braves will entertain the Newberry Indians at home in a battle for second place in the Great Lakes Conference race.

Munising is undefeated in four straight games, but will be moving off its home floor for the first time this season after posting victories over Ishpeming, Marquette, Newberry and Gladstone. The Mustangs are currently atop the standings in the Great Lakes Conference, while the Crusaders have yet to play a league game in the Great Northern Conference.

Holy Name, 1-1 in two games this season, scored an easy victory over the Manistique Emeralds in the season opener. Coach John Butrymowicz's cagers have relied heavily thus far on a strong defense and the scoring of Al Grabowski and Terry Dufour, a 6 foot 5 inch center who is also the team's leading rebounder. The Crusaders are tall and experienced and should give the Mustangs a good run in the Friday night encounter.

Gladstone, 3-1 in season play thus far, has lost only to Muni-sing and has scored victories over Negaunee and Stephenson in addition to Holy Name. Senior guard Mark Weber has been Gladstone's biggest offensive threat so far and should start getting some help from Steve Nelson, the Braves' big scoring threat from a year ago. Nelson and John Watson have been giving the Braves a big lift under the boards with their strong rebounding ability.

Newberry is 2-1 in Great Lakes Conference play while Gladstone has compiled a 1-1 mark. The Class B Indians outpointed Class A Marquette, 77-71, in their last outing to run their season record to 2-2. Ron Bergh leads the Newberry team in scoring and rebounding and should provide an interesting match-up with Gladstone's Nelson and Watson.

The Escanaba Eskymos will open Great Northern Conference play Friday night at Kingsford. The Eskymos were victorious in their opener, a 77-68 decision over Class A rival Marquette, and lost last weekend to the Ishpeming Hematites, 71-65. The Eskymos have been getting good scoring from senior lettermen John Moberg and Dan Mylander and Coach Bill Howes has been pleasantly surprised by the play of sophomore Tom Kangas who has scored in double figures in both Eskymo games.

Escanaba is rated as one of the favorites in the Great Northern race along with Holy Name, Menominee and West Iron County.

Another Great Lakes Conference battle will find the Manistique Emeralds traveling to Marquette seeking their first conference victory. The Emeralds are 1-3 on the season, their lone victory coming against the Rudyard Bulldogs.

Other area games will find Big Bay de Noc trying to extend its unbeaten string to five games at Rapid River, the Powers-Spalding Tigers looking for their second victory at National Mine, Hermansville at Republic, Rock at Eben, Felch at Perkins and Channing at Carney.

Penguins Escape Cellar; Dump North Stars, 6-3

By The Associated Press
Cowboy Bill Flett lassoed the Detroit Red Wings and Referee Vern Buffey didn't do a bad job on the Minnesota North Stars.

Buffey, the NHL's senior referee, inadvertently stopped the puck in front of the Minnesota net with the North Stars turning up ice. Pittsburgh's Bill Speer got behind Buffey, grabbed the puck and fed Billy Harris who whipped Pittsburgh's first goal past Cesare Maniago.

The Penguins took control from there and wheeled past Minnesota, 4-2. The victory allowed Pittsburgh to vacate the West Division cellar and move into a fourth place tie with the North Stars.

Flett scored a three-goal hat trick to lead the Los Angeles Kings to a 6-3 victory over Detroit. In other games Boston tied New York 2-2, Montreal and Toronto played to a 4-4 tie and Chicago downed St. Louis 6-3.

Montreal maintained its two-point lead over Boston and New York in the East Division. The Canadiens bombed Bruce Gamble with 41 shots but needed a late third-period goal by John Ferguson to earn the tie against Toronto.

The Maple Leafs had taken a 4-3 lead on late second-period goals by Ron Ellis and Paul Henderson before Ferguson's seventh of the season earned the tie for the Canadiens.

Ken Hodge's third-period goal squared Boston's game with New York after Bob Nevin and Vic Hadfield had hit for the Rangers and Fred Stanfield for the Bruins.

It was the first tie in 37 games dating back to last season for the Rangers and was spiced by 17 penalties including six at one time—three for each team—early in the third period.

Chicago stunned St. Louis with three goals inside of 55 seconds in the second period and ended the Blues' unbeaten string at 12 games.

Jacques Plante, the Blues' starting goalie, was knocked out in the first period when a shot by Stan Mikita cut him for 15 stitches. Glenn Hall, the ex-Black Hawk goalie, replaced Plante and was the victim of the second period flurry of goals by Dennis Hull, Doug Mohns and Ken Wharram.

Dennis had two goals and his older brother, Bobby, hit his 20th of the year as Hall lost his first game since Oct. 23—his initial appearance of the year.

Kentucky Quint Ranked Atop Small College Poll

By The Associated Press
Powerful Kentucky Wesleyan, which has turned back 24 straight foes including three this season, is the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' first small college basketball poll of the season.

Eastern Michigan also received mention. The Panthers, winners of last March's NCAA small college tournament, drew all but three of the 13 first-place votes for 200 points in the balloting by a regional panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Wesleyan has defeated MacMurry 97-65, Indiana State 73-69 in overtime and Union, Tenn., 101-80 this season.

Central State of Ohio, named first on two ballots in picking up 167 points, was second despite a 2-1 record—including a 95-91 loss to No. 12 West Virginia State.

Ashland, Ohio, 3-0, was third and Trinity, Tex., 4-1, fourth. Trinity was a third-place finisher in the NCAA tournament.

beating out Ashland in the consolation game.

Long Beach State, 4-0, was fifth, followed by No. 6 Cheyney State, 2-0; No. 7 Southwest Missouri State, 3-1; No. 8 Southwestern Louisiana, 3-3; No. 9 Fairmont State, W.Va., 4-0, and No. 10 Youngstown, 3-0.

Tiger' Defense Tight; Tops League Statistics

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers had more than hitting and pitching en route to the American League pennant.

Official figures announced by President Joe Cronin disclosed that the Tigers jumped from fifth place to first in the league in team fielding in 1968.

The Tigers, who fielded .978 in missing the pennant by one game 1967, flashed a tight defense in winning the flag this year. They compiled an average of .983, just two percentage points below the league record set by the Baltimore Orioles in 1964.

Although outfielder Mickey Stanley, who switched to shortstop to help Detroit win the World Series against the St. Louis Cardinals, was the only individual leader, the Tigers committed only 105 errors, 27 fewer than in 1967.

Stanley and Ken Harrelson, the Boston Red Sox' converted first baseman, topped outfielders as neither committed an error in compiling 1,000 marks.

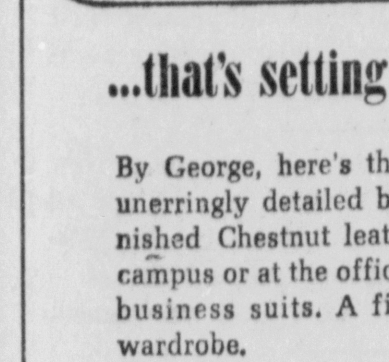

Roy White of the New York Yankees was next among regulars with 997.

Brooks Robinson led all third basemen for the eighth time. The Baltimore Orioles' veteran committed only 16 errors in 537 chances for a mark of .970.

Other individual fielding titles were won by first baseman Danny Cater of Oakland, .995; second baseman Bernie Allen of Washington, .991; shortstop Rico Petrocelli of Boston, .978; and catcher Joe Azcue of Cleveland, .996; New York's Mel Stottlemyre topped 43 perfect-fielding pitchers.

California led the league with 156 double plays. Minnesota committed the most errors (170) and finished last with a .973 average.

Nude Student Recites Poems

DETROIT (AP) — A 21-year-old English student at suburban Oakland University capped his senior year by reading poems in the nude to a class of some 50 persons Tuesday night.

Lee Elbinger of Detroit told the Associated Press he stripped off all his clothes, down to his bare feet, and lectured to the audience for some 15 minutes in the Oakland University Theatre.

Then he walked among the audience, which included male and female students and instructors, and passed out candy.

Elbinger, whose account of the nude reading was confirmed by a number of persons in the audience, said his lecture was based on poet William Butler Yeats' "conception of freedom."

"If I am naked and I am not ashamed, then I am free," Elbinger explained.

Troy Crowder, director of university relations and assistant to university Chancellor Durward Varner, said school officials had heard of the nude lecture and "we're trying to confirm it and learn, if it's true, some of the circumstances."

Urge Gradual Farm Changes

KANSAS CITY (AP) — One of President-elect Nixon's top farm advisers says the struggle between those who want more government in agriculture and those who want less resembles a football game in which the time is running out.

Economist Don Paarlberg of Purdue University, said in remarks prepared for the American Farm Bureau Federation convention today that "the ball is in midfield" and neither side is gaining ground.

"We are at a new juncture in this football game between those who would extend the role of government in agriculture and those who would terminate that role," Paarlberg said. "The ball has just changed hands again. What kind of signal will now be called?"

Paarlberg said that if existing farm programs were scrapped "this would be disastrous for farmers and politicians alike."

And farmers have rejected in the past any further tightening of production controls.

Instead, he suggested, as the National Commission on Food and Fiber recommended last year, that the nation move gradually to a market-oriented agriculture where producers manage their own affairs. This basically is what Farm Bureau officials have urged.

Romney Mum On Turnover Date

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney, accepting appointment as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, gave no hint Wednesday night as to when he plans to step down as Michigan's chief executive.

In a statement released here after President-elect Richard Nixon formally announced his appointment in Washington, Romney said only that "soon after I return from Washington" he would meet with Lt. Gov. William Milliken, his successor-to-be.

"I will confer with the lieutenant governor to work out a timetable and specific arrangements for an orderly transition of authority and responsibility," Romney said.

Romney also pledged to "discharge my cabinet responsibilities with all the energy, commitment and capacity at my command" and to "make a contribution toward reshaping national policies and programs."

"Because the people of Michigan have given me their confidence," Romney said, "I have looked forward to continuing to serve them as governor."

But, he added, the new post will enable him to reshape national programs, "particularly those involving housing and home ownership for the poor, urban renewal, mortgage and disaster insurance community development including model cities, self-help programs and coordination of federal urban programs to help the cities."

"Therefore," Romney said, "I have concluded that this new opportunity for national public service should take precedence."

"It was possible for me to consider this new responsibility only because Michigan has a lieutenant governor who is exceptionally well-qualified to provide vigorous leadership and continuity for our effort to deal with state problems vigorously and effectively," he said, adding:

"Bill Milliken will be an outstanding governor."

Romney added: "It is difficult to think of relinquishing my present duties and leaving Michigan. I have enjoyed working with the people of Michigan and I am indebted to them. For without the opportunities I have had as governor, I would not be as well prepared to undertake this new task of serving all Americans."

'Retarded' Boy Faces Prison

DETROIT (AP) — A 16-year-old boy convicted of stabbing a high school band member to death last year and said to be mentally retarded, was sentenced Tuesday to a life term in prison.

Judge Geraldine Ford of Detroit Recorder's (Criminal) Court sentenced Freddie Lane to the maximum permitted for second degree murder. Lane had pleaded guilty of the charge Nov. 20.

The youth was tried as an adult in the fatal stabbing of George Overman Jr., a high school trombonist and the son of a former Detroit Police Department band director.

The slaying took place in an empty corridor of Cobo Hall in April of 1967 as young Overman was on his way to a band concert there.

Although Lane was 15 at the time of the stabbing, Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln waived jurisdiction, saying the youth was "dangerous and also very retarded."

Lane had been expelled from special classes in Detroit's Garfield school. "We were waiting for him to be placed in a school for socially maladjusted children," said Garfield assistant principal Paul Aviens when Lane was arrested.

The youth will be eligible for parole because the second-degree murder charge did not carry a mandatory life sentence. But a spokesman for the prosecutor's office said he probably would not be considered for "at least seven to 10 years."
